How This System Works

For chronic pain, limited mobility, or a body that doesn't run on a fixed schedule.

BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE

Everything here — the Blocks, the tiers, the check-ins, all of it — is optional. Use what helps. Skip what doesn't. This is a toolset, not an obligation.

This system is built out of Blocks — small groups of tasks (Hygiene, Body, Doctors & Diagnoses, Relationships, and whatever else you add). You arrange Blocks into your day in the order that makes sense. When the day goes sideways — and with a variable-capacity body, it often will — you move Blocks around instead of abandoning them. A moved Block is not a missed Block.

Neuroscience, psychology, and older sources of wisdom — the Bible among them — agree on more than you'd expect about how the mind works, which is not quite the same thing as the brain. One point they converge on: grouping related things together makes each one easier to remember and easier to actually do. That's the whole mechanism behind a Block. But the point of this system isn't the Blocks themselves — it's using them to find your optimal routine, on whatever kind of day you're having. Flexibility isn't a workaround here. It's the entire point.

THE CORE IDEA, ADAPTED

Three of the Blocks in this edition (Hygiene, Body, Doctors & Diagnoses) are tiered by capacity, not fixed by calendar. Each has a Tier 1 (flare/low-capacity), Tier 2 (moderate), and Tier 3 (higher-capacity) version. Pick whichever tier matches your body today. Completing any tier finishes the Block — there is no lesser version of done.

1 SET YOUR BLOCKS

Open the Blocks page. Everything filled in — Hygiene, Body, Doctors & Diagnoses, and the rest — is an example, not a prescription. Hygiene, Body, and Doctors & Diagnoses each have a full tiered version on their own page too. Keep what fits, change what doesn't, or start fresh on the Blank Blocks pages.

2 LAY OUT YOUR DAY

Each morning, use the Daily Organizer page to write your Blocks into the order you intend to run them — and note which tier you're aiming for on the tiered Blocks. It's a plan, not a contract.

3 WORK THE BLOCKS, CHECK IN

Hourly — Prayer / Meditation

A 1–5 minute pause, roughly once an hour. Check or color in the next circle in the row on the Daily Organizer — one per hour, in order.

Every 15–30 Min — Mindfulness Alarm

A short reset: where am I, what am I doing, what does my body need right now? Check or color in the next box in the grid, in sequence.

4 WHEN YOUR CAPACITY CHANGES

Drop a tier, don't drop the Block. Moving from a Tier 3 day to a Tier 1 day mid-day is not falling behind — it's the system working as intended. The goal is to finish your Blocks, at whatever size the day allows.

> MOST IMPORTANT
> If you miss something, write it on the Skip Block so it doesn't just vanish — then let it go. This is a structured guide, not a rulebook. You will miss things. That's expected, not a failure — especially here.

5 MORNING & EVENING

Short check-ins bookend the day on the Check-In page. (A full guided journal is a separate companion product — this is just the quick version that keeps the day anchored.)

6 GOING PORTABLE

Two pages in this pack — Daily Organizer — Foldable and Blocks — Blank (Foldable) — are built to print on the front and back of one sheet. Print them double-sided, fold once down the center, and you've got the barebones system small enough to carry without the rest of the packet.

“The goal was never the workout. It was proving to yourself you still showed up.”

POWER HOUR

NO RULES, ONLY GUIDELINES

- ☐ Pick 1–3 from your running list, sized to today
- ☐ More energy? Keep pulling from the list

Running list lives on the Daily Organizer page.

SKIP

FOR WHAT DIDN'T HAPPEN

- ☐ Write down what you missed today
- ☐ One line on why, if you know

Not a guilt list. Especially here — a missed task written down can wait for a better day instead of disappearing.

REST

A REAL BLOCK, NOT A COP-OUT

- ☐ Take your scheduled rest / lie-down
- ☐ Ice, heat, or elevate as needed
- ☐ Screens off for a stretch, if you can

HOME

- ☐ Tidy one surface or room
- ☐ Dishes / kitchen reset

Sized to today's tier — wiping one counter counts.

FINANCE

- ☐ Check account balance
- ☐ One bill or subscription review

Relationships Blocks — Partner, Kids, Family, Everyone Else — are on the next page.

"The box is small on purpose. Small enough to actually finish."

ON MICRO ROUTINES

Your Blocks — Relationships

One block per person or group who matters. Edit names, tasks, or add more.

PARTNER / SPOUSE

- ☐ One meaningful text or call
- ☐ Ask, don't just answer
- ☐ Say thank you, specifically

KIDS

- ☐ One-on-one moment, even 5 minutes
- ☐ Ask about their day — something specific
- ☐ Praise something specific

FAMILY

- ☐ Call or text a parent/sibling
- ☐ Remember a date that matters to them

EVERYONE ELSE

WIDER CHECK-INS

- ☐ Reply to messages you've been sitting on
- ☐ Comment or post — stay visible to people
- ☐ Reach out to one person you've been meaning to

ON BUILDING YOUR OWN

Hygiene — Adaptive

Basic care counts as care, no matter how small the version is today.

This is a drop-in replacement for the standard Hygiene block. On a bad day, "brush teeth" can be the hardest task on the whole page. Pick the tier that matches your body today. Any tier, completed, is the block done — there's no smaller or lesser version of finishing.

TIER 1 Flare / low-capacity day	☐ Brush teeth (in bed is fine) ☐ Wipe face/body with a washcloth or wipes ☐ Deodorant ☐ Fresh shirt, if you have the energy
TIER 2 Moderate / manageable day	☐ Sit-down shower or sponge bath ☐ Brush teeth at the sink ☐ Comb or brush hair
TIER 3 Higher-capacity day	☐ Full shower ☐ Shave, if that's part of your routine ☐ Full routine, whatever that looks like for you

A NOTE

- Tier 1 is not "not doing hygiene." It's doing hygiene, at the size today allows.
- If a task isn't safe or possible right now, skip it — the block is still complete.

"Some days the win is smaller. It's still a win."

ON ADAPTIVE CARE

Body — Adaptive

For chronic pain, limited mobility, or days your body doesn't cooperate. Rest is a completed task.

This is a drop-in replacement for the standard Body block. Instead of one fixed list, pick the tier that matches your body today — not the tier you think you should be able to do. Checking off a Tier 1 day is just as complete as checking off a Tier 3 day. There is no wrong tier.

TIER 1 Flare / low-capacity day	☐ 5 slow breaths, hand on belly ☐ Change position or adjust support ☐ Ankle pumps or wrist circles (seated/lying down) ☐ Note today's pain/energy level, 0–10
TIER 2 Moderate / manageable day	☐ Gentle stretch, pain-free range only ☐ Short walk — to another room, at your pace ☐ Range-of-motion set: neck, shoulders, or hips
TIER 3 Higher-capacity day	☐ Longer walk or gentle stretch session ☐ Prescribed PT / physical therapy exercises ☐ Anything from Tier 1 or 2, if you want more

PACING, NOT PUSHING

- Stop at comfortable effort — not at pain onset.
- A big day today can mean a harder day tomorrow. When unsure, take the lower tier.
- Choosing Tier 1 is not falling behind. It's the block, completed.

"The goal was never the workout. It was proving to yourself you still showed up."

ON ADAPTIVE MOVEMENT

Doctors & Diagnoses

Replaces the Work/School block. Managing a chronic condition is a job — this is that job's block.

Same tiered logic as the other Adaptive blocks. Some days this block is one line. Some days it's a full slate of calls and forms. Both are the block, done.

TIER 1 Flare / low-capacity day	☐ Take medication as scheduled ☐ Log today's symptoms / pain level
TIER 2 Moderate / manageable day	☐ One small admin task — message a provider, refill a prescription ☐ Note a question for your next appointment
TIER 3 Higher-capacity day	☐ Schedule or attend an appointment ☐ Insurance, billing, or paperwork task ☐ Organize records / prep for next visit

A NOTE

- Logging a symptom is real work. It counts even when nothing "gets done."
- Save Tier 3 tasks for days that can actually hold them — a missed call can wait for one.

"Managing the illness is the job today. Clock in anyway."

MORNING

Before the first Block

Today, I'm the kind of person who…

One thing I'm setting down before I start (worry, grudge, dread):

One thing worth remembering today:

One relationship I want to show up for today:

If today goes the way I want, what does that actually look like?

EVENING

After the last Block

What actually happened today — not what should have:

One Block (or moment) I'm proud of:

One thing I'm carrying into tomorrow — and one thing I'm leaving here:

Who or what am I grateful for today:

One thing I'd do differently — just noting it, not beating myself up:

"You don't have to finish the day well. You just have to close it."
